The Common Core Victory

In September of last year, I filed suit against Governor Nixon in an effort to fight Common Core in our state. On February 24, 2015, we won our case. On March 10, 2015, Gov. Nixon filed an appeal, and the case proceeds. If you haven't been following the suit, let me catch you up briefly.

Why I am Fighting Common

Core:

The most cursory study of economics and history puts the United States ahead of everyone else. The foundation of our nation was a triumph of Western Culture. By 1787, many people here in the United States had risked a long and hazardous sea voyage to escape feudalism, the arbitrary power of kings, and religious and other persecutions and to live in freedom. Nonetheless, right at the beginning, one of our founders, John Adams, warned us:

We have no government, armed with power, capable of contending with human passions, unbridled by morality and religion. Avarice, ambition, revenge and licentiousness would break the strongest cords of our Constitution, as a whale goes through a net. Our Constitution was made only for a moral and religious people. It is wholly inadequate to the government of any other.

Today we face the very threat John Adams warned us about. Secularism, propelled by big money and big government, is now in full assault against Western Culture.

Phyllis Schlafly says...

 "Thomas Jefferson, James Madison, and the other Founders are mostly omitted from the [Common Core] History text unless they can be scripted to fit in with the leftwing narrative of race, class, gender, or ethnicity. The U.S. Constitution is studied as an example of the founders' belief in the superiority of their own culture. Students are programmed to believe that America is not exceptional."

Ronald Reagan said..

 "An informed patriotism is what we want. And are we doing a good enough job teaching our children what America is and what she represents in the long history of the world?... [W]e've got to teach history based not on what's in fashion but what's important – why the Pilgrims came here, who Jimmy Doolittle was, and what those 30 seconds over Tokyo meant. ...If we forget what we did, we won't know who we are. I'm warning of an eradication of the American memory that could result, ultimately, in an erosion of the American spirit."

Continuous economic history since our founding reveals that there is a perfect correlation between the amount of money that a government spends out of GDP and human misery. The more the government spends of GDP, the more power it has, and the more miserable are its people. Thus big-money government attacks our constitutional roots and becomes the very tyranny that the founders fled and established the Constitution to prevent.

Western Culture cannot survive without good schools that are interested in preserving our culture. This is essential to protect our freedom from encroaching big-government secularism.

Why turn over control of our public school system, on which the Missouri state government spends $4.2 billion of taxes we pay, not including possibly $3.9 billion more in real estate taxes, to a group of big-money secularists, so they can impose curricula that minimize the Western culture that created this great nation? This would be political, economic, and cultural suicide.

Fighting the illegal and unconstitutional Common Core dictatorship is one of the most important things we can do.

Yours truly,

Fred N. Sauer

Buffett's Berkshire Hathaway Artfully Avoids Revealing How Much Wealth Electricity Users Transfer to Wind Energy Producers

“Warren Buffet is one investor who understands the wealth generating possibilities of wind energy...[his] company, Berkshire Hathaway, Inc., owns 89.8% of Mid American utility.” So begins Fred Sauer’s compressive analysis of the maneuverings Buffett has successfully undertaken to make billions of dollars from unsuspecting taxpayers.

Since Berkshire Hathaway will not reveal how much electricity they produce via their wind-mills, Fred crunches the available numbers to reveal what is happening behind the curtain. The report points out that regulation, encouraged by wind energy producers, enable these green companies to legally rob the taxpayer. From tax credits to tax-free profits, this analysis reveals how corrupt the green energy business really is. You can read the report here, or at www.fredsauermatrix.com

“When you add these tax credits together they equal the taxes that would be otherwise due on $1,574,000,000....so, [you] get a total tax-free income of $1,574,000,000.”

The Carnahan Wind Deal: Crony Capitalism in Missouri

Fred traces the involvement of a prominent Missouri political family in a wind energy scheme. Detailed accounting detective work exposes the massive costs that so called “green energy” imposes on the poor and all electricity users. The money ends up lining the pockets of liberal elites.

Return Government to the People

Late last year, Fred Sauer formed a new organization, Returning Government to the People, to continue to pursue a ballot initiative to limit corruption and reform government in the State of Missouri. Part of an ensuing press release stated:

“On December 2, 2014, Returning Government to the People filed the Missouri Campaign Contribution Reform Initiative (MCCRI) for the 2016 election with the Missouri Secretary of State. The MCCRI is Returning Government to the People's first step in its effort to restore integrity to Missouri elections and promote the important ideal of limited government in Missouri.

“Missouri currently does not have any limits on donations by individuals and corporations to candidates and political parties. Political candidates in Missouri can receive hundreds of thousands of dollars from single donors. This has created an unfortunate situation where politicians often turn to certain special interest groups, rather than the people of Missouri, for financial and political support.”

RGTP will be launching a website very soon, and will be producing researched case studies about the troubles brought to Missouri thanks to the unlimited flow of money into government.

240 Years Ago...

On March 23, 1775, Patrick Henry addressed the Virginia convention in Richmond. The closing sentiment of his impassioned speech is still quoted today:

*Is life so dear, or peace so sweet, as to be purchased at the price of chains and slavery?
Forbid it, Almighty God! I know not what course others may take;
but as for me, give me
liberty or give me death!*
